

Beijing > Magazine >>>

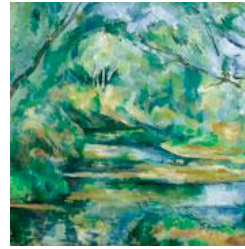

Top 5 Art Exhibits

What's Buzz?

Check out City Weekend's Top 5 Art Exhibits

1 Don't Be Afraid, Be Ready, Until June 30, Imagine Gallery

Alysse Stepanian and Philip Mantione have made, in 3-D, a Dr. Seuss depiction of the American government's color-coded terror alert system and its affect on the American psyche during post 9-11 America. Through installation pieces the pair try to reflect the constant paranoia incited in citizens by a governmental plan that claimed to protect.

View all images (1)
Add an image

2 Beads on Silk: Until July 2, Beijing Tokyo Art Projects

In 1997 Liu Zheng began creating works using beads and silk that eventually formed his distinct artistic identity. Zheng's handiwork runs a gamut of subjects including movie scenes, popular ads, monetary currencies, and Mao. Even if you don't enjoy his works aesthetically, you have to be impressed by all that beadwork.

3 Red Gate's 15th Anniversary Exhibition, July 1 - August 27

Red Gate celebrates its 15th anniversary with an exhibition of works at both the Dongbianmen Watchtower and the 798 Red Gate Gallery. The works shown at the 798 reflect the demolition and construction currently happening within Beijing. Pieces include Wang Jinsang's "One Hundred Signs of Demolition" and a Botero-esque sculpture of two faceless Chinese men by Zhu Wei.

4 Wang Yin 2006: Until July 30: White Space Beijing

Wang Yin's works are a play on the existing painting styles and is a playful collection of art references.

5 From Monet to Picasso, Beijing World Art Museum, Until August 27

47 paintings and 13 sculptures from the Cleveland Museum of Art are exhibited here in Beijing. The exhibition is divided into the following groupings: The Impressionist Epoch; Post-Impressionism; Early Modernist Sculpture and The Age of the Avant-Gardes. Highlights include: Pierre-Auguste Renoir's Romaine Lacaux; Claude Monet's The Red Kerchief: Portrait of Mrs. Monet; Vincent van Gogh's The Poplars at Saint-Remy; Pablo Picasso's Bottle, Glass, and Fork.

Posted Dec 4th 2006 9:36p.m. by City Weekend filed under

Contact the author

Share with a friend
Give feedback / corrections

Comments Add a public comment

Please sign in to add a comment

Bookmark this Digg! del.icio.us Newsvine

Restaurants, Bars, Jobs and Housing...

About us | Contact us | CW Jobs

© 2007 Beijing Ringier International Advertising Company. All rights reserved.

京ICP备05061149号

Latest Comments

sarahleibl commented on Interview: Saucy Irish Songstress Hits the Stage With Hua in Beijing Blogs > The Beat - BJ Nightlife "anneMarie is amazing i'd come from anywhere to see her perform even winnipeg, manitoba" 2 days, 11 hours ago gregk commented on Interview: Saucy Irish Songstress Hits the Stage With Hua in Beijing Blogs > The Beat - BJ Nightlife "Great interview. AnneMarie Farrell is really funny. Loved that bit about Zhang Zhang hair." 4 days, 13 hours ago jasminerose commented on Interview: Saucy Irish Songstress Hits the Stage With Hua in Beijing Blogs > The Beat - BJ Nightlife "well, that's me sold! i'm definately going!" 4 days, 15 hours ago

qq_amychen commented on Snow Days in Beijing Blogs > Family Matters "lovely kids hehe ,i like" 4 days, 20 hours ago

stonebanks commented on Highlights from Acupuncture Records World Tour in Beijing Blogs > The Beat - BJ Nightlife "Wow. Awesome. Congrats, Acupuncture! Elvis.T and Terry Tu Acupuncture night at Tresor sounds unbelievable." 6 days ago

Editor's Pick Events

THROUGH THE EYES OF A CHILD
北京系列 DENG WUSHU 邓伟东
SEPTEMBER 27 - DECEMBER 17
10:00 - 12:00 PM
Opening: Sunday, September 27, 2006 10:00 AM

Today at Museum of China Cultural Arts
Deng Wushu: Through the Eyes of ... This exhibition is an exercise in child-like hope in the future. Consisting ... more »

MORE PICKS

- > Toko Shinoda
- > Voodoo Kungfu + Traditional Folk Orchestra
- > Breaking Forecast:8 KEY FIGURES OF CHINA'S ...
- > RMB1 Pizza Mondays

Top users in Beijing

